Challenges: Crib Distribution Program: Since not all pregnancy tests are positive and transitioned into our prenatal program we have seen lower numbers in the need for cribs. Childcare Assistance Program: As many of our clients are challenged with lack of employment opportunities, they are also challenged with paying for childcare. Unfortunately, to look for work and be employed they need childcare. It creates a vicious cycle, leaving them always behind. We are working closely with clients to determine the best use of their resources to develop a budget and plan to pay for childcare until income is stable. Due to the unemployment rate, many of our clients are not in need of childcare until they are more stabilized. Education Assistance Program: Many of our clients are challenged with lack of employment opportunities with adequate earning power because they have not completed their high school education or secondary education. Tapestry continues to work with clients encouraging GED tutoring and enrollment into secondary education. We continue to promote our computer lab area and are brainstorming on how to increase the interest in this service.
